Mission

The Herbert Henderson Office of Minority Affairs is committed to serving and assisting all underserved citizens across West Virginia and developing innovative ways to address issues affecting minority populations through conversation, education, leadership, and collaboration.

2020

The COVID-19 Pandemic

At the end of 2019, the Herbert Henderson Office of Minority Affairs (HHOMA) appeared before this committee to report on a highly productive 2019 and to preview our plans to build on that strong foundation.

As chair of the Martin Luther King, Jr. State Holiday Commission (MLKC), executive director Upson, launched the year 2020 with the annual Martin Luther King Jr. ecumenical service held at Asbury United Methodist Church in Charleston. MLKC and HHOMA followed this interfaith service with a symbolic march to the Capitol, followed by a bell-ringing for freedom. Also in January, the winners of the statewide MLK poster & essay contests for K-12 students in West Virginia were awarded at a banquet held in the great room of the WV Culture Center.

February 2020 was jam-packed with numerous Black History Month initiatives including the very popular Katherine Johnson Middle School program featuring bronze sculptor, Frederick Hightower. Over three hundred middle school students were in attendance at the WV Culture Center Theater for this educational presentation that combined the arts, culture, and history.

During the first quarter of 2020, HHOMA also began issuing payments to grant recipients under the Building Resources In Diverse Geographic Environments (BRIDGE) Grant Program created by Executive Director Upson. Projects included programs to improve:

- Economic Stability
- Healthcare
- Social/Community Services
- Neighborhood Environment
- Community Living
- Education

Finally, with the start of the new year, executive director Upson began her work on the Governor's 2020 Census Commission.

Then, in an instant, everything changed.

At the beginning of March 2020, the worldwide COVID-19 pandemic had hit West Virginia and all public events were halted. The rapid rate of infection and alarming death toll required that all agency employees immediately shift to remote-work only. Demonstrating remarkable professional dexterity, HHOMA immediately transitioned into pandemic response mode. The agency took on a prominent leadership position in placing testing, treatment, and other resources in minority communities.

In collaboration with the State's Bureau of Public Health, WV Department of Health and Human Resources (DHHR), WV Air National Guard (WVANG), and local county health departments, HHOMA led the effort to establish two to five mobile testing sites in minority communities each week beginning in late April 2020 and running until vaccines became widely available.

Census Bureau reports West Virginia as the top responding state

By Eddie Trizzino | Times West Virginian

Oct 6, 2020

Executive Director Upson's Census work was completed with West Virginia becoming the first state to achieve a 99.9% response rate. As a member of the Census Commission's Minority Populations subcommittee, director Upson leveraged her work of establishing COVID-19 testing sites to provide Census outreach and education at drive-through and walk-up clinics in minority communities.

2021

While continuing to address the public health impact of COVID-19, managing daily operations, and organizing and hosting virtual agency events, at the Governor's request, HHOMA drafted a 55-County Listening Tour plan to obtain statewide input for unmet community needs and requests for the use of the $1.335 billion allocation to the state of West Virginia in American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) funding.

From August 11, 2021 to December 31, 2021, HHOMA conducted sixteen in-person listening tours in the following counties:

Brooke	8/11/21
Hancock	8/12/21
Ohio	8/18/21
Marshall	8/19/21
Wetzel	9/9/21
Monongalia	9/22/21
Marion	9/30/21
Preston	10/6/21
Taylor	10/7/21
Tucker	10/18/21
Barbour	10/20/21
Berkeley	11/2/21
Jefferson	11/14/21
Morgan	11/9/21
Mineral	12/2/21
Hampshire	12/14/21

All public feedback has been recorded by HHOMA and was submitted to the U.S. Treasury in accordance with federal reporting requirements for ARPA funding.

Looking Ahead to 2022

Addiction and Recovery

The devastating increase in substance use disorder and deaths have disproportionately affected minority populations in West Virginia. HHOMA will be collaborating with Dr. Matthew Q. Christiansen, Director of the Office of Drug Control Policy to conduct educational forums in minority communities. Dr. Christiansen is currently compiling the related data to help quantify this critical issue.

HIV and Hepatitis C Elimination Plan - Treat Subcommittee

Executive Director Upson has been tapped to contribute to the new five-year state plan to eliminate HIV and Hepatitis C. She has already begun working to help develop goals and objectives to strengthen services and address health inequities. The West Virginia 2022-2026 HIV and Hepatitis C Elimination Plan will build upon the 2017-2021 Integrated HIV Prevention and Care Plan created collaboratively with DHHR and the Bureau of Public Health (BPH).

In-Person Juneteenth Celebration

HHOMA's live cultural events returned to the Capitol on June 18, 2022 with West Virginia artists who performed spoken word, instrumentals, and vocal performances. Local food, merchant, and non-profit vendors served the crowd of over five hundred while children enjoyed a variety of bounce houses, slides, and climbing play features. The 2022 event was headlined by national recording artists, Surface, Ruff Endz, and Hi-5.

In-Person Minority Business Expo

Planning has begun for a Fall 2022 in-person Minority Business Expo. An October press release with full details is forthcoming.

Recommendations

The Herbert Henderson Office of Minority Affairs would like to thank the West Virginia State Senate and House of Delegates members for the strong support received during the 2020 - 2021 cycle. The agency also respectfully submits the following recommendations:

- Pass a law to establish a West Virginia Indian Affairs Commission made up of the appropriate current state leaders and/or administrators that would develop state recognition procedures for Native-American tribes.
- Prioritize broadband to rural communities to increase access to telehealth options for better health outcomes and for online training and educational opportunities to improve economic stability.
